This narrow typically undulating links hole has water all the way down the left and is lined with pine trees down the right. It requires a good accurate tee shot slightly right of the fairway bunker. A long second shot down the middle will leave a short iron approach to the green. Avoid the greenside bunkers at all cost as they are deep and unforgiving!!!

This is a hole that typifies National Golf Club. This sloping kidney-shaped green is well protected by a bunker and two prominent pines, requiring you to carry your shot with a long/middle iron all the way.

A dog-leg left with a blind tee shot makes the line off the tee all-important. Often a long iron or fairway wood is used. An ideal drive is slightly left of the big pine tree in the middle of the fairway. This is a real shot makers hole and requires a well struck short iron to hold on this small elevated green.

Playing almost due north, this hole can be either with or against the prevailing wind depending on the time of day. A drive just short of the ridge is needed to provide a good sight to this slightly elevated two tiered green.

A genuine 3 shotter if ever there was one! Long hitters will need to lay up short of the canal with a fairway wood. A second long shot right side of the fairway will set up a short iron to a thin rollercoaster of a green. A par will feel like a birdie!!!

Quite possibly one of the toughest holes in Europe - a long drive between the big pines is a necessity if you want to reach this long par 4 in two. With water left and back, bunkers protecting the right and a good scorecard in your hand, playing for a five might be the sensible option!!!
